Characteristics of the Seminar

- Intended for primary and secondary school teachers, lecturers, university students and researchers interested in Second Language Acquisition (SLA).
- The goal of the seminar is to provide updated information on instructed second language learning and the different variables that play a role in the process. It also considers the relevance of SLA research for language teaching.
- The seminar will be held entirely in English, but it aims to cater for all those interested in L2 or foreign language acquisition, as the issues dealt with should be applicable to any L2.
